AND THE GIMME GOES TO...

The federal government is sending those who qualify a $300 - $600 rebate:

- If we spend that money at Wal-Mart, the money will go to China.
- If we spend it on gasoline it will go to the Arabs.
- If we purchase a computer it will go to India.
- If we purchase fruit and vegetables it will go to Mexico, Honduras and Guatemala.
- If we purchase a good car it will go to Japan.
- If we purchase useless crap it will go to Taiwan
- The only way to keep that money here at home is buy to the only products still produced in the USA -- prostitutes, weed, beer and tattoos! Do your part!

NO KIDDIN'!

Gina Bennicasa writes in Readers' Digest: "When I was a kid, my dad and I had a running joke. If anyone asked what he did for a living, I was to reply, 'He's a sports mechanic. He fixes boxing matches and horse races.' Once, I answered a teacher this way. She flipped out and summoned my parents.

"Dad calmed her down by explaining it was a joke. 'So what do you do?' she asked. Dad, a sales rep for a pharmaceutical company, said, 'I sell drugs.'"

Will Lincoln Survive "Gettysburg" Comments? (Transcript from Hannity's America November 20, 1863.)

Sean Hannity: Well ... it looks like Mr. Lincoln's really put his foot in it this time. The question for our panelists is: "After Gettysburg, Does Lincoln still have a chance for re-election?" Pat?

Pat Buchanan: I'd have to say no Sean. Right from the start he's set himself up as another liberal elitist, hopelessly out of touch with the voters. "Four Score and Seven..." The number he's looking for is eighty-seven. Maybe if he put down his Chablis and Brie for a minute he'd understand how real people actually speak.

Laura Ingraham: And the whole thing was written on the back of an envelope for cryin' out loud. Hey Abe, get a clue: it's called "paper." Not everybody can use a perfectly good envelope, which as all Americans know is meant for mailing things... and he uses it for scratch paper! Give me a break!

Sean Hannity: Let's go a little further down here to the comments that really seem to have set American's teeth on edge, the part about not being able to dedicate, consecrate or "hallow", whatever that means, this ground. Is it wise for someone running for re-election to tell us what we can't do? Does he just hate Americans... ?

TOP DOWN. Hannity, Ingraham, Buchanan

Laura Ingraham: Well, he certainly doesn't seem to care much for women that's for sure: "Our fathers"? "Brave men"? "All men are created equal?" I tell you, if women could vote, they certainly wouldn't vote for him!

Sean Hannity: And here he says we're engaged in a "Great Civil War." Really Mr. President? I bet there's a lot of Americans out there who'd like to know what you think is so great about it. He also says "The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here..." I bet now he sure wishes we're not gonna remember!

Pat Buchanan: I know it's a small point, but isn't "Abraham" a Jewish name? [LINK]

STAYIN' YOUNG (George Carlin's rules!)

1. Throw out nonessential numbers. This includes age, weight and height. Let the doctors worry about them. That is why you pay 'them.'
2. Keep only cheerful friends. The grouches pull you down.
3. Keep learning. Learn more about the computer, crafts, gardening, whatever. Never let the brain idle. 'An idle mind is the devil's workshop.' And the devil's name is Alzheimer's.
4. Enjoy the simple things.
5. Laugh often, long and loud. Laugh until you gasp for breath.
6. The tears happen. Endure, grieve, and move on. The only person who is with us our entire life, is ourselves. Be ALIVE while you are alive.
7. Surround yourself with what you love, whether it's family, pets, keepsakes, music, plants, hobbies, whatever. Your home is your refuge.
8. Cherish your health: If it is good, preserve it. If it is unstable, improve it. If it is beyond what you can improve, get help.
9. Don't take guilt trips. Take a trip to the mall, even to the next county; to a foreign country but NOT to where the guilt is.
10. Tell the people you love that you love them at every opportunity.

IN THE NOOSE

Albert Hofmann, daddy of medicinal LSD, whose discovery grew into a notorious "problem child," thanks to abuse, mainly by our own government, died of a heart attack at his home in Bassel, Switzerland at the age of 102, a premature passing obviously affected by experimental drug use.

"LSD can help open your eyes," he said, "but there are other ways: meditation, dance, music, [and] fasting." And dying, too, no doubt...

And Planeteer Paul Willson notes that according to Harper's: "Philipp Freiherr von Boeselager, believed to be the last surviving member of the circle of plotters who attempted to kill Adolf Hitler with a briefcase bomb, died at the age of 90. Close as I can figure, Boeselager means 'angry camper.' After all," Paul adds, "they didn't get the bear; the bear got them."

Two inhabitants of the island of Lesbos along with a member of a nationalist pagan association have launched a legal case against OLKE - the Greek Gay and Lethe Island was the home of the poet Sappho who expressed her love of other women in lyric verses. Activist Dimitris Lambrou, in a text titled The Misfortune of Being Lesbian claims that Lesbos residents are suffering "psychological and moral rape" from the "seizure" of their island's name by gays.

Meanwhile, police in southern China have discovered a factory in Guangdong manufacturing "Free Tibet" flags. Workers said they thought they were just making "colorful flags" and didn't realize their meaning.

NO SOAP, RADIO?

In 1755, famous English actor Charles Macklin boasted to playwright Samuel Foote that he could repeat any speech after hearing it only once, so Foote promptly challenged Macklin by writing The Great Panjandrum.

"So she went into the garden to cut a cabbage-leaf to make an apple-pie; and at the same time a great she-bear, coming down the street, pops its head into the shop.

'What! No soap?' So he died, and she very imprudently married the Barber: and there were present the Picinnies, and the Joblillies, and the Garyulies, and the great Panjandrum himself, with the little round button

GRANDPA RULES

Dear Amy:

WORKIN' 9 TO 5

Before becoming famous, according to Eddie "Greasy" Deezen, Charlie Chaplin was a butler and Clark Gable, a clerk with the Miller Rubber Company. Walt Disney acted as an assistant post office letter carrier, while Abraham Lincoln was a postmaster and Rock Hudson, a postman, (leading to the rumors that Abe was gay.)

Sidney Poitier practiced physiotherapy, Alec Guinness wrote advertising copy; Sylvester Stallone ushered at a theater while both Harpo Marx and Richard Pryor played pianos in houses of ill repute.

Casanova spied for king Louis XV of France, Joseph Stalin was a bank robber, Bill Clinton served as a university professor, Tony Blair practiced law and John Major? Well -- he was a garden gnome manufacturer.

I'VE GROWN ACCUSTOMED TO YOUR FAME

"Dear Mr. Proctor,

"With due respect and humble submission, I beg to draw your kind attention that this is one of my countless attempts to reach you, and needless to say once again that I am an ardent admirer of yours. In fact, I am growing accustomed to your fame.

"But now, it seems to me that you have decided, not to reply my letters of deep admiration. Please tell me, is it good to break the heart you are ruling? It's a pity! It's a pity that I am still writing to you. In fact, you are my source of inspiration. That is why, I use to write to time and again, despite your apathy towards me. Upon my words, you are absolutely unique and beyond compare. And you are my ideal of a perfect personality.

"Therefore, I'll be grateful to you, if you please take the trouble of sending me your much awaited and cherished autographed photograph, for memento. Because when I'll grow too old to dream, I'll have this memento of yours to remember. Please take a very good care of yourself. With high regards, S.K.Joshi" (Yes, I sent him a nice note and an autographed postcard – in Hindi!)

ASK DOCTOR PROCTOR

I've never written to you before, but I really need your advice. I have suspected for some time that my wife has been cheating on me. The usual signs are phone calls where the caller hangs up if I answer. My wife has been going out with "the girls" a lot recently although when I ask their names she always says, "Just some friends from work, you don't know them."

I think deep down I just didn't want to know the truth, but last night I decided to hide in the garage behind my golf clubs so I could get a good view when she returned from a night out with "the girls". When she got out of the car she was buttoning up her blouse and she took her panties out of her purse and slipped them on.

It was at that moment, crouching behind my clubs, that I noticed the graphite shaft on my driver appeared to have a hairline crack right by the club head. Is this something I can fix myself or should I take it back to the pro shop where I bought it?
