

2012: in the noose

The latest fad among middle-aged men in the Middle East is a “moustache transplant.” Hair from the head is moved onto the lip to create an impression of super masculinity so important in their culture. Sounds like a terrorist plot. Don’t give me any of your lip.

A gated community in Colorado has begun issuing speeding tickets for anyone caught going over 30 mph by the newly installed radar system.

Furthermore, residents will have to pay a fine if any of their visitors exceed the limit – unless, of course, it’s your big brother.

been spared that day?" Gee I thought the toll was 20 children and six adults. He must know better because he's a "good guy."

And according to The Week, American households earning less than $13,000 a year, pay at least nine percent for lottery tickets. And millions of Americans still believe that the earth is 5,000 years old. We're getting dumber. Darwin was wrong. The culling stopped long ago. He should have called his masterpiece The Origin of the Specious.

And incidences of Type Two diabetes are increasing rapidly in China as more citizens adapt to a Western-style diet. China has 90 million diabetics as opposed to 20 million here. And since we're "doing numbers," we should note that 50 percent of Americans now favor legalization of pot and by 2020, supporters of gay marriage will have majorities in almost every state. I see the future gayly – through a haze of weed...

But wait! There's more! Pope Benedict XVI asserted in his Christmas address to the Vatican VIPs that "The manipulation of nature, which we deplore today when our environment is concerned, now becomes man's fundamental choice when he himself is concerned." He's referring to same-sex marriage. Must have lost something in the translation from Nazi to Italian to English...

I KID YOU NOT

A recent article in The Toronto Star furthers the Planet's ongoing fascination with the early origins of Conservative and Liberal mindsets. A long-term study of 700 U.S. voters seems to indicate that "regardless of race, economic status, intelligence or gender," children raised by strict, authoritarian parents become Conservatives while those in families that believe "children should be allowed to disagree with their parents" more consistently turn out Liberal.

The research further revealed that kids who seemed "fearful and cautious" as 4-year-olds leaned towards Republicanism, while "active and restless" tots grew to embrace a Democratic Party ideology. We are who feeds us, I guess, not just what we eat...

GROUCHO AND HENRY, BOB AND ME

My first major film director in A Safe Place, longtime friend, and prolific auteur Henry Jaglom, says that at a party at Jack Nicholson's house, his friend Candice Bergen said, "I want to introduce you to Groucho Marx." So she took him over and said, "Groucho, this is Henry Jaglom." And Marx answered in these exact words: "Jaglom? Jaglom? That's not a person, that's an animal," and walked away.

And do you know why the former "Julius" Marx is called Groucho? In a 1959 interview on BBC TV's "Showtime," his brother Chico explained that in the early '20s, when pot was legal and they were a popular vaudeville act, "We used to wear a little bag around our neck, called a Grouch bag. In this bag we would keep our pennies, some marbles, a couple of pieces of candy, a little marijuana, whatever we could get." So that's how Groucho got his name. And Chico? He was so named because he chased chicks. READ STORY

Also, when I worked with the legendary Bob Cummings, he told me SOME GREAT STORIES that he then told to Dick Bertel on his Golden Age Of Radio show in Hartford, CT in 1974. That's my Bob!

DON'T ASK

In a dark and hazy room, peering into a crystal ball, the mystic delivered the grave news: "There's no easy way to tell you this, so I'll just be blunt. Prepare yourself to be a widow. Your husband will die a violent and horrible death this year."

Visibly shaken with fear, Laura stared at the woman's lined face, then at the single flickering candle, then down at her hands. She took a few deep breaths to compose herself and to stop her mind racing. She simply had to know.

She met the Fortune Teller's gaze, steadied her voice, and asked, "Will I be acquitted?"

He is finished when he quits." ~ Richard Nixon

FIRESIGN IN THE NEWS

On MSNBC's "Chris Matthews Show," hip columnist Eugene Robinson CHARACTERIZED the politically devastating 47 percent off-the-cuff remark by Mitt Romney as being so absurd that it must have come from the Marx Brothers – or The Firesign Theatre.

And SF Chronicle's Jon Carroll wrote in an enlightening ARTICLE about the advantages of aging: "I've become more patient as I've gotten older.

"I know some people get crankier, and I could certainly rant if I wanted to, but what the hell? We're all bozos on this bus. We're all just trying to muddle through. We make mistakes. It is easy to be impatient when other people make mistakes but really, aren't you just another mistake ready to happen?"

And finally, a real Bozos on this Bus STORY from Canadian Planeteer Gary Pig Gold.

"[An ideology] that is patently in error cannot change the universe to conform to itself, however popular it may be and however irritatingly it may survive refutation. Its falseness condemns it in the end, to nothingness." ~ Isaac Asimov

EARLY RETARDMENT

After Christmas, a teacher asked her pupils how they spent their holidays. One child supposedly wrote:

"We always used to spend the Christmas holidays with Grandma and Grandpa. They used to live in a big brick house but Grandpa got retarded and they moved to Bateman's Bay where everyone lives in nice little houses and they don't have to mow the grass! They ride around on their bicycles and scooters and wear name tags because they don't know who they are anymore.

"They go to a building called a wreck centre, but they must have got it fixed because it is all okay now. They do exercises there, but they don't do them very well. There is a swimming pool too, but they all jump up and down in it with hats on.

"At their gate, there is a dollhouse with a little old man sitting in it. He watches all day so nobody can escape. Sometimes they sneak out, and go cruising in their golf carts. Nobody there cooks, they just eat out; and they eat the same thing every night --- early birds. Some of the people can't get out past the man in the dollhouse. Those who do get out bring food back to the wrecked center for potluck.

"My Grandma says that Grandpa worked all his life to earn his retardment and says I should work hard so I can be retarded someday, too. When I earn my retardment, I want to be the man in the dollhouse. Then I will let people out so they can visit their grandchildren."

PASS IT ON

Oh, my Gosh. The longer I wait between orbits, the more obits I read about friends and colleagues. First, the most personal - my Scroll and Key Yale mate and longtime pal, Paul Gorman, recently lost his dear wife Enid to breast cancer. Then I heard from Michael Hruska, that my former literary agent and funny friend CAREN BOHRMAN, whom I first met through her witty broadcaster dad, Stan, had left us.

And then, I 'd met Mary Martin's son, Larry Hagman with Peter Fonda and Brandon DeWilde at the Malibu Colony when I first arrived on these shores back in the mid-'60s. He was in his monk's robe, walking on the beach with a notebook and pen to rest his voice and calm his spirit. We had both appeared on the soap "The Edge of Night" in New York. He was a mischievous man and didn't always behave at his best, but the strangest thing I read about him was revealed in the NY Times.

Hagman, visited Bucharest in the '80s when celebrated as the nasty "Dallas" oil tycoon J.W. Ewing: and Romanian dictator Nicolae Ceausescu, later executed in the 1989 Christmas uprising, wanted a portrait of the actor to be displayed to bolster his regime as he believed it portrayed Capitalism negatively.

Larry agreed only if a bag of hard cash was delivered to a government office ladies' room for his wife to pick up.

"I think we were directly or indirectly responsible for the fall. They would see the wealthy Ewings and say, 'Hey, we don't have all this stuff.'" And I totally and totalitarianly agree. The TV satellites led to the fall of the Soviet satellites.

"I think death is just another stage of our development," he said. "I honestly believe that we don't just disappear. We don't go into a void. I think we're part of a big energy curtain, an energy wave, in which we are like molecules." Waiting for reruns, Larry?

"The principle is that the poor, who must subsist on table scraps dropped by the rich, can best be served by giving the rich bigger meals." ~ William Blum

The end of the world came to the Sandy Hook Elementary School with the slaughter of the innocents. Their sacrifice and that of their heroic protectors cannot go unanswered – it is a clarion call to come to our collective senses as a Nation.

Along with other changes regarding registration and mental health, sensible and restrictive gun laws must be passed as a vital step to guarantee that the rights now broadly interpreted in the Second Amendment be properly administered.

As a survivor with Peter Bergman and Dr. Bill Alexander of the "SF Golden Dragon Massacre," I hereby declare that if we fail to renew the ban on assault weapons and do not limit ammunition clips to ten, we deserve to be cursed for our ideological stupidity and political cowardice, regardless of party affiliation.

And Republican Joe AGREES!
