PLANET APRIL FOOLISH

PAINFUL

A guy and a girl meet at a bar, and they hit it off so well that they end up at the girl's place. A few drinks later, the guy takes off his shirt and then washes his hands. He then takes off his trousers and again washes his hands.

The girl has been watching him intently and says: "You must be a dentist." The guy, taken aback, says, "Yes I am. How did you figure that out?"

"Easy," she replies, "you keep washing your hands." Well, one thing leads to another and they make love. After it's over the girl says, "You must be a good dentist." The guy, flattered, says, "Sure, I'm a good dentist. How did you figure that out?"

The girl replies, "Didn't feel a thing."

WHY DO THE WRONG PEOPLE TRAVEL?

Actual complaints received by Thomas Cook Vacations from dissatisfied customers include:

“On my holiday to Goa in India, I was disgusted to find that almost every restaurant served curry. I don’t like spicy food.”

“We went on holiday to Spain and had a problem with the taxi drivers as they were all Spanish.”

“We booked an excursion to a water park but no-one told us we had to bring our own swimsuits and towels. We assumed it would be included in the price.” “The beach was too sandy. We had to clean everything when we returned to our room.” “We found the sand was not like the sand in the brochure. Your brochure shows the sand as white but it was more yellow.” “They should not allow topless sunbathing on the beach. It was very distracting for my husband who just wanted to relax.”

“It’s lazy of the local shopkeepers in Puerto Vallarta to close in the afternoons. I often needed to buy things during siesta time – this should be banned.”

ME AND MY $HADOW

The Italian newspaper Leggo reports that storeowners in Conegliano are now faced with the proposition of paying taxes on shadows if your awning casts shade on public property.

And even more breathtaking, according to Austrian native Pater Tenebrarum of Acting Man, “Where we have the so-called (put down the coffee) air tax... [so] if you have a shop sign that occupies airspace, you must pay a tax for it!

the subway or not. In fact, I think there is no government on the planet more inventive with regard to taxes, levies and imposts of all sorts.” READ ON

AN OLD STORY

Robert, 85, a wealthy tycoon, marries his secretary Jane, a lovely 25-year-old; but since her new husband is much advanced in years and concerned that he may overexert himself on their wedding night, she arranges that they have separate bedrooms.

After the festivities, Jane prepares herself for the knock on the door which comes as expected. She opens the door, and there is her 85-year-old groom, ready for action; and sure enough, they consummate their union.

Then Robert takes leave of his new bride, but as she happily prepares for sleep, she hears another knock on her door. It’s Robert again, and he’s ready for more! Pleasantly surprised, Jane consents, and when the newlyweds are sated, Robert kisses his bride, bids her a fond goodnight and leaves once more.

She is ready to go to sleep again, but no, Robert is back, rapping on the bedroom door as fresh as a 25-year-old; and, once more they enjoy each other.

As Robert rises to leave, his young bride gushes, "I am thoroughly impressed that at your age you can perform so well and so often. Believe me, I've been with guys less than a third your age who were only good once. You are truly a great lover, Robert!"

Robert, oddly embarrassed, turns to Jane and says, "You mean I was here before?"

THE TIMES THEY ARE A-CHANGE-KA-CHING

The Recording Industry Association of America reports that streaming generated $1.87 billion last year, while CD sales fell to $1.85 billion, which now accounts for 27 percent of total revenues. With digital music accounting for 65 percent of revenues, one might predict the demise of all physical formats, yet there remains a dark horse because the report also demonstrates that vinyl sales are up 50 percent since 2013.

And streaming music is also threatening terrestrial car radio which is being edged out by Sirius XM and Pandora, so in the next five years, more than 60 percent of all U.S. vehicles will include technology for streaming on the road. And there's hamburger all over the highway in Mystic, Connecticut. MORE ON IT

WHERE THERE'S A WILL

A well-to-do woman visits her attorney regarding a minor change in her will. When they're done, she asks how much she owes for his services. "Oh, there's no charge," he tells her. "It was a minor matter that took just a few minutes. Really, there's no charge."

"But I insist," she says. "I took your time, I want to pay."

LOST IN TRANSLATION

Pine Bush High School in upstate New York has apologized for reciting the Pledge of Allegiance in Arabic, in response to complaints from Jewish parents and residents who lost relatives in Afghanistan.

The district said the school's foreign language department had arranged to have the pledge recited in different tongues for National Foreign Language Week, "to promote the fact that those who speak a language other than English still pledge to salute this great country."

In a statement posted on the district's website, officials
